

Cordelia Henry ACIB
Associate of Chartered Institute of Bankers

With over 32 years' experience in retail finance for blue chip financial institutions in London, Asia and the Middle East, Cordelia provided solutions for an array of clients. She learned that many business owners lacked the skills of how to acquire new clients. Cordelia realised that filling this gap was where her true calling lay.

Cordelia is now the founder of Pearlescence. She shows business owners how to find their ideal clients, dramatically increase their profits by building business relationships with the RIGHT people!

Cordelia leads a community of like-minded female entrepreneurs who believe in the power of building their business through referrals & business connections. She uses her skills as an Imago Facilitator to empower her clients to replace self-defeating traits with effective skills and create amazing business relationships.

Combining these skills, Cordelia has a gift of connecting with people at an emotional and rational level. She is a confident speaker, facilitator and advocator of women in business and how to network effectively.
